Comments/Suggestions:

The Aspen Art Museum did a great job of meeting ZGreen event requirements for the July 4th picnic in 2012. All the food was provided in bulk with vegetarian options by the Hickory House. Serving ware was all compostable, which made it clear to attendees how to sort waste. Beer was provided in bulk kegs and Dreamtime water was available in bulk containers as well. No printed materials were distributed at the event except for the usual museum brochures, which are printed on recycled content paper. Educational signage was posted at the drink station in a visible place. Additionally, the signs were reused from last year, which helps to conserve resources and reduce waste.

Thank you for working with ZGreen to comply with the City of Aspen standards.

This report card will be kept on file and referenced for future events. It will also be made available to the public and City Council.
