Comments: This was another great ZGreen event at the Art Museum. Nice work! All food and condiments were provided in bulk to reduce packaging. Beer was distributed in kegs with compostable cups. There were no giveaways and all flyers were printed on recycled paper.

Opportunities for Improvement: Next year, ZGreen recommends reserving more compost bins so that each waste station looks the same. Some of the stations had recycling while others just had compost. This can lead to confusion and contamination if the bins aren't staffed during for the complete event.

Although there is some education available inside the museum, it would be nice to have an additional education sign at the membership table or beer table outside. This way, attendees have a better chance of learning about AAM's green efforts.
