Comments: The Aspen Chamber and Resort Association (ACRA) 2011 Soupsköl event excelled in the area of waste reduction. Trash cans were only available behind soup vendor tables and all cups and spoons given to attendees were composted. Compost bins were readily accessible, clearly marked, and seemed to have little contamination. Compost bins were emptied regularly which helped prevent overflow. Giveaways at the event were minimal, though there were some printed materials handed out that appeared to not be on recycled paper. The Soupsköl educated attendees with signs at the ACRA booth and with announcements during the event. Overall, good job with waste reduction efforts!
